This 30-acre lot has sweeping ocean and mountain views along with all the privacy and tranquility that is characteristic of the region. The property's terrain offers a multitude of choices for building and development. Kaupo is believed to be where the first Polynesians landed on Maui. It's a place with a rich history and many preserved cultural sites. Ancient Hawaiians called it wahi pana, "storied places". The property is located off the Kaupo Gap Road, a natural feature of Haleakala National Park, and a gateway to exploring the Park's trails. A trail through the
