Discreetly positioned off Kula Highway, the approach reveals very little. A winding drive. A narrowing road. Then, through the trees, a freshly painted 1933 guest cottage quietly appears, a subtle introduction to what lies ahead. A whisper of what came before. Keep driving. The landscape begins to unfold. And then you arrive. A refined modern architectural private retreat. Exposed beams. Oak floors. Walls of Andersen windows drawing the landscape inward from every direction. Once cattle ranch land, these twenty-two rolling acres of open pasture and mature
