Living on the Wailuku river is like no other experience! You may think you won't get used to the rush of the water and then you realize you are sleeping like a baby! Sellers have traveled the world, living in many environments so they built this home to incorporate that full lifestyle. This floor plan enabled them to welcome visitors from around the globe while they worked at their creative endeavors. There are as many windows open to the views and breezes as an architect could allow. Kitchen/living creates a great room designed before we had even thought about that
