Brand new construction in the growing and evermore desirable, and up-an-coming Royal Hawaiian Estates neighborhood. There are not many tranquil neighborhoods where you can find newly constructed homes in lava hazard zone three, on about half an acre for less than $400,000. Overhead power, paved roads, and a paved driveway make this home ideal. All of this is only minutes from the National Park. Ancient forests with mature, native flora and fauna thrive throughout the area. The house was built with sustainability and a lower environmental impact in mind -
