Most people who know the North Shore know the coastline. Kalihiwai Valley is something else entirely. Set across nearly 4.5 acres, this estate offers a sense of space, balance, and careful design. The primary residence sits at approximately 3,000 square feet on a single level, where clean architectural lines and vaulted ceilings create an easy, natural flow between the kitchen, living, and dining areas. Three well-separated ensuite bedrooms provide privacy, while a dedicated office, guest bath, and laundry add to the home's overall functionality.
