Start each day with golden West Hawai'i light streaming through vaulted ceilings, and end it with pau hana on your breezy lanai, watching the sun sink into the Pacific. This is daily life at Ali'i Lani, one of Kona's most well-kept complexes, where this top-floor two-bedroom, two-bathroom home sits on the quiet mauka (mountain) side of the property, away from road noise, with a lanai overlooking one of two resort-style pools and lush tropical gardens.

Inside, the vaulted ceilings give the living space an open, airy feel that is rare in a
